Curtis L. Golkow, a partner in the Corporate Department at Fox Rothschild LLP, was a course planner and the moderator for "Buying and Selling a Business," a continuing legal education course presented by the Pennsylvania Bar Institute (PBI).

The course was held in Mechanicsburg on July 13, Pittsburgh on July 20 and Philadelphia on July 27 from 9 a.m. to 1:15 p.m.

Because buying or selling a business involves both business judgment and law, lawyers need to understand the issues and nuances of these transactions to provide effective representation. This course featured an experienced panel of presenters who offered practical advice, highlighting often overlooked problem areas and potential pitfalls.

Golkow served as the moderator at the Philadelphia and Mechanicsburg presentations and as faculty at the Pittsburgh seminar, where Thomas G. Buchanan of Buchanan Ingersoll PC served as moderator. David R. High of Jones Day and Cheryl A. Upham of Cozen O'Connor were faculty at the Mechanicsburg program. Rachel Lorey Allen of Jones Day and Brian Condon, a principal in M&A Tax at KPMG LLP, served as faculty at the Pittsburgh presentation. D. Mark Grimm, Jr. of Kegel Keilin Almy & Grimm LLP joined Buchanan and Upham as faculty for the Philadelphia program.
